

System Integration

Fieldware specialise in short time-frame software integration projects, and bringing these projects in on time and on budget.

We have successfully delivered projects involving custom software, multiple legacy systems, specialised hardware and multiple 3rd-party products. With tight project management and experienced staff, we engage the client through the whole software development process to ensure the needs of all stakeholders are met.

We pick and choose our projects, so contact us for enquiries regarding our capabilities.